

國立彰化高中 114 學年度英文作文比賽高一組作文試卷與題目

題目：Many people use fake names on the internet. While this lets them talk freely, some people use this chance to say mean things or spread rumors because no one knows who they are. If you are posting something online, do you think using a real name is better than being anonymous (匿名)? Why or why not? Please share your ideas and provide examples to prove your points. (不用抄題，請寫 150 字左右)

(-) There is no doubt that most of the people using cellphones are fond of posting something online to share their experience or comments about an article or a video. Nevertheless, you can notice some people posting online prefer not to share their true name as well, which means we can't find who left this comment or post.

(=) As far as I am concerned, I feel like using an anonymous name better than a real name. First of all, I am capable of sharing whatever I want without the risk of being known who I am. For instance, I once posted a comment which is extremely terrible, for I didn't think too much. When I went back to check what others left about my extreme comments. All I could see is plenty of negative words, which reminded me that it's crucial to think twice before posting something online. Fortunately, I had hid my names, so I didn't get any punishment despite my stupid behaviors of doing such a ridiculous thing. Second, it's safer. Once you post online, some people may want to know more about you. They might send a message to you or leave some comments related to you, which can lead to annoyance or scams. However, the fake name can be hard to face this kind of situation owing to the privacy and the unawareness of your account.

20

編號：

(考生請勿填寫，由實研組製號)

(=) In conclusion, using a real name or a ^{fake} ~~fact~~ one to post online is our right to do so. Both have their own benefits and some risk. No matter what you like to use. Always remember that saying mean words and spreading rumors only cause the harm to others. As a result, we should be more positive and have a wonderful attitude toward not only the Internet but also the world.

背面續寫