國立彰化高中 114 學年度英文作文比賽高二組作文試卷與題目

題目：Political conflicts, such as the long-standing hostility between the U.S. and Iran, often result in unintended consequences for ordinary people, including economic hardship and social instability.

First, describe the impacts you have observed from wars. Second, if you were a world leader, how would you solve a serious conflict between countries?

(不用抄題，請寫 300 字左右)

In an era characterized by rapid advancement as well as constant transformation, connection between various nations and regimes is bound to be high-related. Nonetheless, as the issue of benefits and resources become international and imperative, each country is likely to provoke rages, even compromising the initial reconciliation simultaneously. Even worse, it may contribute to wars which renders civils a terrible life. Therefore, it is of paramount importance for the government to formulate a concrete and feasible approach to resolving the vexing problem in a methodical manner.

From my perspective, wars can bring about plenty of negative impacts. First and foremost, economic burdens and the rising unemployment rate can lead to low competition between nations. So long as people can't shoulder economic pressure from wars, there would be a large group of the underprivileged, increasing burdens to the society. Subsequently, wars can influence the price of foods, oil, or electricity, which exacerbates the situation for the countries across the globe. People may start to scramble resources and even be on strike to oppose the terrible phenomenon. Scarcely had humans been denied equanimity when they weren't willing to adhere to some policies and regulations. This is one of the factors of the disorder without harmony. Ultimately, if the president and officials weren't believed, no hope and future would exist. Maybe other countries will take the advantage of the condition to gain profits from it, ignoring the essence to make a peace world.

If I were a world leader, I would cope with this kind of conflicts with a cautious and prudent mindset. When confronting the urgent situation, first, I would leave no stone unturned in reaching a consensus by communicating with smile from the bottom of my heart, the conversation would by no means be successful. If the way didn't work, I would turn to other countries for extra assistance, which would be the most efficient and effective method of coping with the conflicts.

Undoubtedly, there are always trials and tribulations for every government and civilians to overcome. Suffice it to say, only by striking a balance between profits and comprehension can we deter devastating wars from occurring and render people a more harmonious civilization.
